Do You Want to Make a Fashion Statement?

Fashion designers create the clothes, accessories, and footwear that people wear. Some design everyday clothes found in local department stores. Others design clothes seen in high-end fashion shows in New York City and Paris. Still others design costumes worn in movies and theater productions. The Bureau of Labor Statistics says most fashion designers work in New York or California. Fashion designers need a bachelor's degree in a field like fashion design or fashion merchandising. Plus, lots of creativity and design skills!
